

Mandeep is the All-India Principal Program Advisor in the Public Affairs Section of the U.S. Embassy in New Delhi, where she has served since July 1994. She was instrumental in setting up the U.S. State Department's, "Youth Exchange and Study (YES) Program," in India in 2005 in collaboration with AFS-USA. Mandeep did her Bachelors (Lady Shri Ram College) and Masters (Hindu College) in English from the University of Delhi. She is a qualified teacher with a Bachelor's degree in Education. Mandeep's one enduring passion for the past three decades has been to work with underprivileged tribal girls at a Delhi-based non-profit "Yuvati Sewa Sadan (YSS)," run by Spanish missionary nuns.
